Testimonials

This is a great resource to use for centers. Easy to prep, engaging activities. I can prep them once and put away for next year. One less thing I have to think about!

My students enjoy playing with this resource after I introduce it during small group. It can be hard for young students to grasp time concepts, and this helps them attach the idea of a "season" with their real life experiences. - April E.

I have been planning my autumn units for the coming year and was so excited to see these new folders. They are always popular with the children as they love the success they feel after independently completing an activity.

- Pamela B.

Have fun playing and learning with your students!
